Engaging, Educating, Entertaining Upbeat Keynote Presentation

Audiences & event organisers love Matt Hale - the most entertaining, original & upbeat keynote speaker on increasing productivity and performance, and improving happiness, and mental health

Let international "mind hacks" expert speaker & memory expert, Matt Hale, demonstrate and teach your attendees techniques for instantly improving their memory skills in this fun and friendly format.

In this interactive presentation, Matt gives your attendees simple, easy to implement, practical mental techniques to:

- use memory effectively in everyday business
- remember names of clients (& their partners!)
- remember new people you meet
- memorise long lists, speeches, new technical terms etc
- PLUS...never forget where you place your phone, keys or wallet again!

Matt knows that having a good or bad memory is a myth - it comes down to simple education of how to put your mind to work for you. With these techniques, anyone can seem like a superbrain! So, let's unlock the potential of your attendees minds and let them surprise even themselves!

"The presentation was exactly what our team needed. We couldn't have been more happy with your full service, from the minute I made the enquiry, I know that each of our team members took away something from the whole experience."
-Tania Valerio, Bright Food Global Distribution

"I came home all excited from the conference in October. (Months later) our members are still talking about how good it was, I do hope our paths cross again!"
- Lee Wear, National Local Government Customer Service Assoc
